AREAS OF EXPERTISE

Personal Injury, Industrial Disease, International & Travel, Employment & Discrimination, Military Claims, Aviation

David is a leading personal injury and employment junior. He is the head of Chambers' employment team.

"He is really impressive - smart and efficient" (Chambers & Partners (personal injury: industrial disease), 2025).

"David is simply outstanding" (Chambers & Partners (employment), 2025)

David is ranked as a leading junior for both personal injury and employment law, in both Chambers & Partners and the Legal 500.

In personal injury he specialises in occupational and environmental disease claims, including all aspects of asbestos disease; noise-induced hearing loss; and cases involving the armed forces. David is instructed in the Military Deafness Litigation, one of The Lawyer's Top 20 Cases of 2025.

In employment he appears regularly in the Employment Tribunal and the EAT in a variety of statutory employment cases.

He leads Chambers' employment team, which is ranked as a leading group in both Chambers & Partners and Legal 500.

Cases include:

Minis Childcare Ltd v Hilton-Webb [2024] EAT 108: successful appeal concerning the relationship between indirect discrimination and the duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled employees.

Barry v Ministry of Defence [2023] EWHC 459 (KB): military noise-induced hearing loss case with widespread implications for the quantum of earnings-related damages for disabled claimants.

Abbott v Ministry of Defence [2022] EWHC 1807 (QB): junior counsel for nearly 3,500 claimants for noise-induced hearing loss and/or tinnitus brought against the MOD.

Wokingham Borough Council v Arshad [2022] EWHC 2419 (KB): successful appeal on behalf of a local authority against claim for psychiatric damage, brought by a taxi driver after a mistake in the taxi licensing process.

Personal Injury

David is a leading personal injury junior.

He is really impressive – smart and efficient” (Chambers & Partners, 2025).

“David is efficient and provides expert advice. He has an excellent understanding of the technical aspect of medical evidence” (Chambers & Partners, 2025)

“David presents confidently whether with clients in conference or to a hall full of delegates. He is excellent on quantum issues most notably concerning statistics” (Legal 500, 2025)

David has a complex and high-value personal injury practice, almost exclusively on the multi-track. A significant portion of his work is on claims worth over 7-figures.

David has a particular interest in claims with a complex quantum element. He is an expert at constructing career models for future losses, and is adept at cases with difficult mathematical, scientific or technical aspects. He is a Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society, and has published articles and given training about the statistical underpinnings of the Ogden Tables.

David's personal injury practice is diverse. He represents Claimants and Defendants, and his caseload includes:

- Workplaces
- Local authority liability
- Occupiers' liability and defective premises
- Road traffic accidents
- Product liability claims
- Occupational stress
- Abuse and harassment
- Psychiatric damage

David is confident in multiple-expert cases. He is assured at discussing the finer medical and causation points of a case with experts, and is a confident cross-examiner of experts. He is happy to provide recommendations for further expert evidence where necessary.
