Isaac is Joint Head of our Clinical Negligence Team.

Isaac has a specialist clinical negligence, personal injury and insurance practice. In addition to his injury practice, Isaac has an established reputation as an insurance specialist and is often instructed to advise insurers and the MIB on technical coverage and indemnity issues.

Isaac is an experienced advocate with an excellent track record at trials, joint settlement meetings and mediations. He is often instructed as a junior in high value claims, and also has extensive experience as sole counsel.

In addition to his civil practice, Isaac is often instructed to provide representation at inquests, particularly those arising from deaths in hospitals and road traffic accidents.

Clinical Negligence

Isaac is joint head of the 12 KBW Clinical Negligence team.

Isaac has a busy and varied clinical negligence practice, and has acted or advised in cases including:

Isaac acts predominantly on behalf of claimants in his clinical negligence practice.

Whilst Isaac's clinical negligence experience is very broad, he is particularly interested in cases involving sepsis, spinal cord injury and serious brain injury.

Isaac's clinical negligence work includes drafting pleadings, drafting agendas for expert meetings, advising on paper and in conference, and providing representation at JSMs, mediations and at court.

In addition to working on cases against hospitals and GPs, Isaac has been involved in cases involving claims against cosmetic practitioners and pharmacists.

Recent examples of Isaac's clinical negligence work are:

Isaac is the author of A Practical Guide to Sepsis and Meningitis Claims, available here.

Personal Injury

Isaac acts for claimants and defendants in all aspects of personal injury including road traffic accidents, employer's liability, occupier's liability, product liability, and public liability. Isaac has been instructed in several large multi-party actions arising from concussive head injuries in football and rugby.

The majority of Isaac's personal injury instructions arise from road traffic accidents.

Isaac is generally instructed in serious and catastrophic injury cases, particularly those involving brain injuries.

Many of Isaac's instructions for defendants involve allegations of fraud, or indemnity issues (see below).

Examples of Isaac's work include:

- Keating (for estate of Birtles) v Aviva [2025] EWHC 1926 (KB) – acted for D2 in successful strikeout application by an estate for a claim for diminution in value of a dependency claim where the deceased and his wife had both suffered fatal injuries in an RTA, but he survived for 12 days before succumbing. - B v SR (2023) – instructed for defendant in claim pleaded at £1.1 million, arising from RTA in which C suffered

- D v MS (2023) – instructed for defendant in claim pleaded at over £1 million, where C was a serving police officer who had been seriously injured in an RTA in the line of duty. He alleged a significant risk of medical retirement, and Ogden disability. The claim successfully settled at JSM.

Insurance

Indemnity and coverage disputes form a core part of Isaac's practice. He frequently advises insurers and/or the MIB on policy and coverage disputes, particularly in the context of road traffic accidents. He is often instructed to draft defences or to advise in cases where indemnity disputes arise between insurers and their policyholders. He is also frequently instructed to advise insurers on their status as against other insurers.

He is recognised as a leading junior in the field. He is described in Chambers and Partners 2025 as having "exceptional knowledge of indemnity issues", whose expertise in this area is "highly rated".

He has recently advised in cases involving the following issues:

- All aspects of the Uninsured Drivers' Agreement 2015, including failures by claimants to pursue other sources of recovery, and clause 8 defences;
- Cases where proceedings have not been properly served on a tortfeasor and where the insurer or MIB has only a contingent liability under section 151, Article 75, or the UDA;
- Shogun Finance v Hudson arguments;
- Whether various types of use fell within the terms of a policy, including:
 - use of a vehicle as a weapon;
 - racing;
 - fast food delivery;
 - deliberate acts;
 - Whether the correct insurer to conduct a defence was an EL or motor insurer, and how to resolve the issues between those insurers;
 - Whether an uninsured defendant who conducted her own defence and satisfied her own judgment could be liable to the MIB in costs.

He frequently delivers training on insurance indemnity and cases involving the Motor Insurers' Bureau ('the MIB').

He also acts for claimants in cases against the MIB.

Fraud

A significant proportion of Isaac's personal injury practice involves cases containing allegations of fraud including fraudulent exaggeration, LVI, and induced accidents.

Isaac is regularly instructed to advise in writing and in conference on behalf of defendants in cases where fraud is suspected.

He is familiar with the application of section 57 of the CJCA 2015, and has frequently had QOCS disapplied on the basis of findings of fundamental dishonesty.

Isaac is frequently instructed in chronic pain, functional neurological disorder (FND) and mild traumatic brain injury cases where exaggeration is an issue.

Isaac has a reputation for clear and robust pleading.

A large number of claims Isaac has been involved with in this area have been discontinued or settled for very low sums early in the litigation.

Inquests

Isaac has experience of acting in inquests, especially those involving hospitals.

Isaac has been instructed both by families, and by other interested persons, including retirement homes. He has also been instructed by the insurers in cases with a personal injury background, particularly in deaths arising from road traffic accidents.

In addition to representation at inquest hearings, Isaac advises interested persons in preparation for inquests, and is happy to attend pre-inquest reviews.

Isaac has recently acted in the following inquests of note:

- Re Harris – hospital inquest where the deceased suffered an upper GI bleed which was not appropriately treated. Represented the family.
